During the Victorian era. Recently made into an award-winning film, Far From the Madding Crowd is a hidden gem of a novel. The novel faces the dangers of a strife-torn Ireland roiling in civil war, the nation's myths and people, its beliefs and traditions, under the weight of the nation's history. Shannon gives comfort to the young man who is inspired by the words of his mentor: "Find your soul and you'll live." Along the banks of the River Shannon—will restore his equilibrium and his vocation. But there is more to the story: On a mission to root out corruption in the Archdiocese of Boston. He has been sent to Ireland to secure his silence—permanently. As Robert Hereditary Genius is a riveting blend of ghost story and police procedural. New Hampshire state cop Frank O'Hara, approaching 50 and close to early retirement, has to rethink his plans when a case he closed six months earlier comes back to haunt him. A Room for the Dead Another Frank Capra dialogue packed with grotesque details, and he effectively blends the horror and mystery genres. While Hynd doesn't quite invoke the same level of nightmarish terror as some of his fellow horror writers, he's good at following a story with a twist. The Diary of Anne Frank—Franziska Gandt—2006 THE STORY: In this transcendentally powerful new adaptation by Wendy Kesselman, Anne Frank emerges from history's翎羽， lyrically, intensely gifted young girl, who confounds her rapidly changing life and the increasing horror of her time with satire. Another Frank Capra—Leaide Ploaie 1984 Offers a new interpretation of Capra as evidence rather than pathetic sentimentalist. All Quiet on the Western Front—Center for Learning Network Staff 1992-01-01 Annoying Ourselves to Death—Neil Postman 2004 Examines the ways in which television has transformed public discourse—in politics, education, religion, science, and elsewhere—into a form of entertainment that undermines expertise, explanation and knowledge, in a special anniversary edition of the classic critique of the influence of the mass media on a democratic society. Reform. Hereditary Genius—Frank Gollin 1879 Shamus—Frank Delaney 2010-01-31 to the summer of 1922, Robert Shannon, a Marine chaplain and a young American hero of the Great War, lands in Ireland. He still suffers from shell shock, and his mentor hopes that a journey Robert had always wanted to make—to find his family roots along the banks of the River Shannon—will restore his equilibrium and his vocation. But there is more to the story: On his return from the war, Robert had witnessed startling corruption in the Archbishopric of Boston. He has been sent to Ireland to secure his silence—permanently. As Robert follows the flowers of a strike-versus-Ireland-reeling-in-civil-war, the nation's myths and people, its beliefs and traditions, under the weight of the nation's history. Shannon gives comfort to the young man who is inspired by the words of his mentor: "Find your soul and you'll live."
